Graduation is an achievement worthy of its honor. It's the culmination of 13 years of education of a student's life and the moment we formally recognize a young man or woman making their transition from a path of dependence to (hopefully) becoming independent contributing members of life, a testament to her parent's faithfulness and her devotion to Christ. But that also means there's no shortage of stories to tell. So come join us here this Saturday, May 22 at 5:00pm as we celebrate Chloe's achievement and encourage her in her coming endeavors.
