A MODIFICATION TO OUR WORSHIP SERVICE

I want to take a moment today to acknowledge how well our church participates in worship. In many churches today, worship has become more of a spectator sport rather than something that we participate in.

We, as a church family, do a great job lifting our voices together in song! And as the primary teaching pastor, I can attest to how well you pay attention to each sermon! But...

One of the things that has been a concern for me in our worship services over the past eighteen months is that this global pandemic has essentially done away with the time of invitation at the end of the message each Sunday. This time of invitation has always been an opportunity to respond to how God is speaking to you. What is He asking of you? Are you willing to do it? When will you do it?

It seems that when we come to the time of reflection at the end of each Sunday morning message, we almost immediately switch gears—we stop thinking about God's voice speaking to our hearts and start thinking about what food we'll be putting in our stomachs! Seriously, we seldom take sufficient time to process all that God is saying to us.

It is for this reason that we will be making an adjustment to our services this week. I won't explain it here but you will realize it when it happens. Thanks for your flexibility!
