

“But I say to you that listen,

Love

your enemies,

do good

to those who hate you,

bless

those who curse you,

pray

for those who abuse you.”

Solomon once wrote: “My child, pay attention to what I say. Listen carefully to my words. Don’t lose sight of them. Let them penetrate deep into your heart, for they bring life to those who find them, and healing to their whole body. Guard your heart above all else, for it determines the course of your life.” (Proverbs 4:20-23, NLT)

Relationships are the essence of life as we know it. Everyday in dozens of ways we put our heart out to people in an effort to connect with them. It may be as friends, coworkers, teammates or a romantic connection—it does not matter—we make ourselves vulnerable when we try to connect to people.

This is why it is so important to work on the various skills needed for a healthy/trusting connection. Next month we plan to focus on some of the skills needed to cultivate these connections in all aspects of your life. I hope that you will plan now to be here for this new sermon series and the next session of Community group meetings that will be starting next month as well.

If you are not currently involved in a community group, this would be an ideal time to get connected. See one of our pastors for more information!
