

A close-up photograph of vibrant red maple leaves against a soft, out-of-focus background. The leaves are in various stages of autumn, with some showing bright red and others hinting of orange. Dark, thin branches crisscross the frame, adding texture and depth. The overall mood is serene and contemplative, fitting for a religious quote.

*Be joyful in hope,
patient in affliction,
faithful in prayer.*

LIFEWORD... A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

"Surely, we have only to read the front pages of our newspaper or hear the newscasts to know that our nation is in crisis times, and we feel that the greatest help that we could give our own America is the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Although this sounds like a call to action for today's Christians, it was written in 1965 by Harold Morris, the very first missionary commissioned by the BMAA. After his health forced him to leave his mission field of Brazil, Morris used the best technology available to fulfill the Great Commission. When he recorded that first broadcast of the Harvest Gleaner Gospel Hour from the living room of his home in Conway, Arkansas, he intended to "make full use of the best technical means of communication..."

Today, Lifeworld's goal is to have a gospel presentation available in audio and video in 200 languages. Harold Morris could hardly have imagined today's technology to spread the gospel through media. From a one-man broadcast at a garage in Conway, Arkansas, to a world-wide staff producing programs in 140 languages, Lifeworld is making Jesus' name famous on a global scale.
